The department is determined to provide global standard education to its students/stakeholders through its quality curriculum, innovative teaching learning process and benchmark evaluation system.

About the Seminar

The upcoming seminar on integrating Indian Knowledge Systems and traditional wisdom with modern practices promises to be transformative for both society and the nation. Addressing the disparity between India's profound heritage and contemporary demands, the event seeks a culturally sensitive approach to education, healthcare, agriculture, and environmental sustainability. Its core objective is to revolutionize education by redefining curricula and methodologies, infusing Indian Knowledge Systems for a comprehensive and culturally enriched learning experience. Preservation of cultural heritage is a key outcome, with discussions highlighting insights from traditional practices. The seminar delves into Traditional knowledge's application in healthcare, through practices like Ayurveda and Yoga, is expected to enhance public health outcomes. Community empowerment and inclusivity are stressed, recognizing the significance of involving local communities in preserving and disseminating traditional knowledge.

Discussions also spotlight traditional knowledge as a source of inspiration for innovation and entrepreneurship, potentially fostering economic benefits and job creation. The seminar aims to influence policy formulation by providing practical recommendations for integrating traditional knowledge into education, healthcare, agriculture, and environmental policies. This alignment could yield effective, culturally resonant solutions, shaping a more enriched, sustainable, and socially inclusive future for India. The seminar represents a unique opportunity to interweave traditional wisdom into contemporary society, enhancing the nation's educational, cultural, and environmental tapestry.

Objectives of the Seminar

- Explore the cultural relevance of traditional knowledge in education, aiming to develop culturally sensitive and inclusive pedagogical strategies.
- Provide a platform for interdisciplinary discussions, synthesizing insights from Education, Humanities, Social Science, Science, etc. and fostering a holistic understanding.
- Encourage the presentation and discussion of interdisciplinary research frameworks, bridging the gap between traditional knowledge and contemporary practices.
- Highlight research on the integration of traditional agricultural practices, environmental wisdom, and sustainable development to contribute to environmental science and sustainability.
- Discuss the use of digital platforms for disseminating and preserving traditional knowledge, contributing to the field of digital humanities.
- Showcase research on the integration of Ayurveda, Yoga, and traditional health practices, contributing to the field of holistic health.
- Formulate policy recommendations for institutions, government bodies, and organizations seeking to integrate traditional knowledge into contemporary practices.
